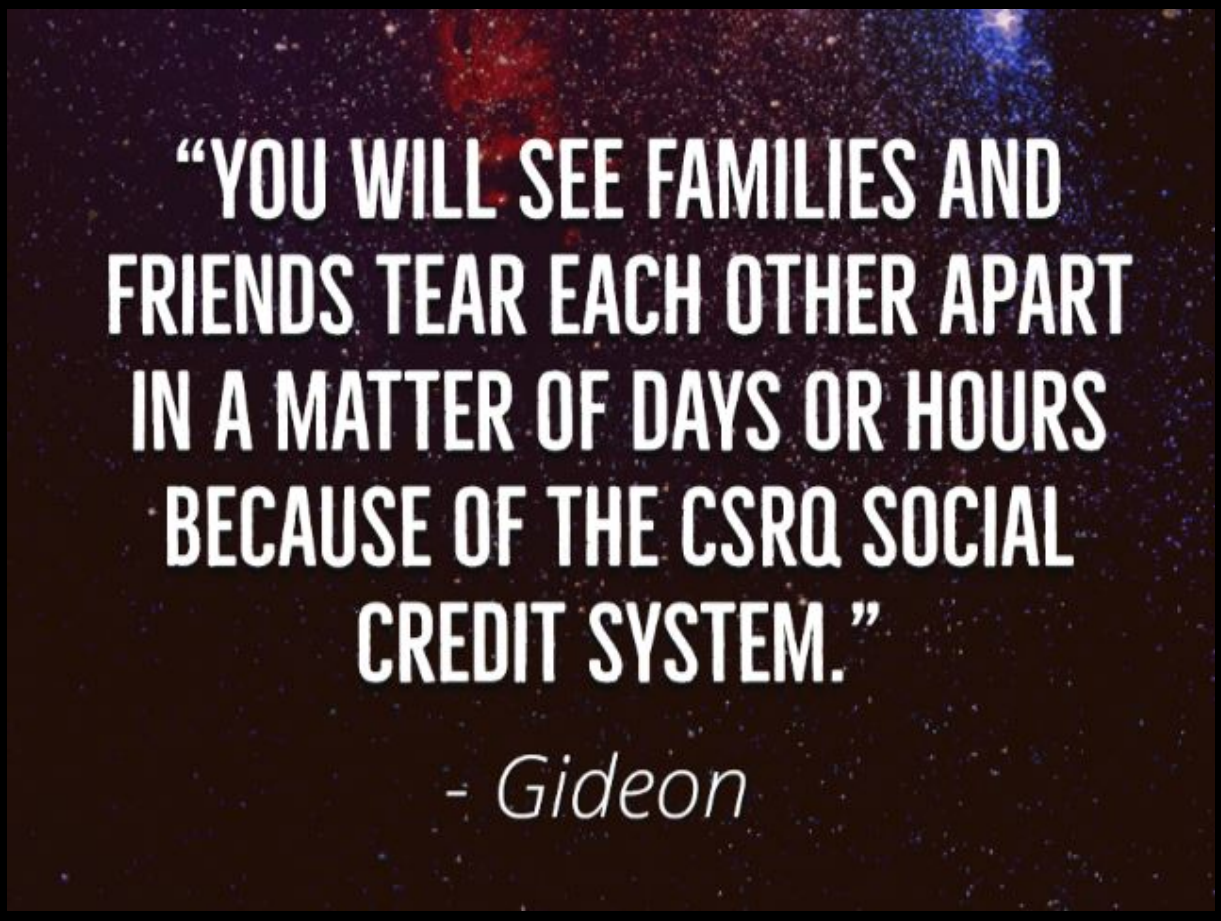
Intel Drop #1 – CSRQ Tears The World Apart



Saturday – July 16, 2022

Good evening everyone, it's been an intense week. I've felt a sense I need to get more and more information out, because people have a ton of questions. You've seen about 10% of what we have, so it's a lot for me to get it out, we have a long way to go to get it all out.

Anyway. The past few days I've had some up to date conversations with Gideon about what's going on. Here are the exchanges he approved I can share (a big thank you Michael for editing and cleaning this up for me):

Bill: How do you think we're doing? I think we have 25,000 views on Youtube and 2,000 people in the Telegram group in a few days.

Gideon: "My guys can see it and they're glad their information is getting out. We just know that if we plateau, it won't make a dent or a difference. I said we need 50 Million views across all the channels, I mean it, and that's minimum."

Bill: We had low level agents on us at the start. Then there was that break you talked about, they were gone for a day, then returned. What do you think happened there?

Gideon: "That's the escalation. Level 1 to level 2, to put in simple terms. We're still at Level 2."

Bill: What's the difference between Level 1 and 2?

Gideon: "The Level 1 guys come into groups to post nonsense, derail, create drama, try to attack and discredit. Their job is to muddle the group, turn new members off, cause confusion. They're good at it but easy to spot.

At Level 2, you have a better trained crew come in to develop better relationships, gain trust, drop some seeds of doubt or misdirection, and steer conversations."

Bill: "We're seeing that. We're also seeing a lot of off-topic discussion, this has to be them right?"

Gideon: "Most of the time it is. Not everyone is an agent. Remember, the agent's job is to blend in and not get caught, so they can sometimes appear to be very genuine, too."

Bill: Well, DarkDayz has been a big help because I can't always spot them [DarkDayz used to be a Level 2 agent].

Gideon: "He's done a great job."

Bill: What happens at Level 3 and up?

Gideon: "This is where official shadow banning will be authorized. If you were getting a steady flow of new people into the Telegram, that will stop. Views on videos will stop or slow to nothing."

Bill: How close are we to that?

Gideon: "Very close. Keep pushing grassroots efforts, that's harder for them to stop cold."

Bill: Ok, how about your guys. Can you give me an update? How are they doing? Did anything change upon the release of this, like new security changes?

Gideon: "Yes, they increased security. It was a direct response to this. It's not bad. It just made their lives a little harder."

Bill: How worried are their bosses about this leak?

Gideon: "Worried but they're not going to shut down operations to stop it, yet. They are fast-tracking this. They know the leakers have a high clearance, but there are at least three hundred with those clearances. To stop their work, investigate, it will bring all this to a halt. I think they're choosing to de-prioritize, and just go full steam ahead.

They don't think my guys have the 'goods' in the way they could bring the whole thing down. They think my guys probably have some video and proof, but if it came out they would just nuke all of this. Instead of spending a lot of time trying to find the leakers, they are just going to watch what you are doing and nuke it later on."

Bill: Why don't they just nuke it now?

Gideon: "We're not sure. They could be doing some data mining or analytics. They may think we'll screw up and they can find the leakers through us, so they want to keep us around. They may want to keep the evidence trail in place, they may hope we lead them to the leakers."

Bill: So they just can't find your guys?

Gideon: "They know my guys are very well trained. There will be no evidence. They would have to investigate every person with a high level clearance working on the software, across twenty fusion centres around the world. I'm sure they're doing some kind of investigation right now, but they know and I know, it will move slowly."

Bill: You mentioned data mining. I hope they're not going to target our people in our groups.

Gideon: “It doesn’t matter, Bill. Everyone in the groups is either Restricted or Quarantined, they’re not even worried about them. They’re going to be looking at analytics of Common classes who see this information, and also watch Sovereigns in the alt media. Their focus isn’t our people, it’s outside of that. I know how they work, Bill, we’re in an ok position right now.”

Bill: Ok, I’m glad to hear that. I sent you the list of names people want looked up, what happened there?

Gideon: “My guys got it and they thought it was a pretty good list. It’s a matter if they find a time they think is safe to look them up.”

Bill: We’ve talked about this, but if I’m putting this in a blog, can we go over that again? I don’t think people know how this works, what your guys are actually doing.

Gideon: “You mean in terms of looking accounts up?”

Bill: Yes, that and just the general parameters of their day to day operations. I’m putting that in Part 3, but a lot of that is from months ago. Maybe you can give us a status update on that, I mean what your guys are doing job-wise each day?

Gideon: “Ok, of course. Over the past few months, their tasks and focus has shifted. When they were brought in late last year, they had to go through a lot of briefings and some training. They talked a ton about this reset, this scheme, to push humanity into a corral like a bunch of cattle. This put my men on high alert from the start, and it gave them a ton of information on the strategy that was ahead. It was a blessing in disguise, all those boring briefings had a ton of little details, which I've since communicated to you."

Bill: Ok, so they started work last year, and before they start they learn all about this new system, then what was their job and how did it evolve?

Gideon: "Stress-testing the software, all of its modules. They go in and act like real hackers, try to break in from the outside. The real eye-openers for them was seeing the class system.

Once they had done extensive stress testing for months, the priority shifted to making sure all the modules can be accessed by low level bankers and government employees when this goes live. The propensity for glitches seems to be a problem, so they are working on that. It's complex because you're dealing with the biggest data set in the world, imagine millions of hard drives stacked on top of each other as high as the Empire State Building and then processing all that data."

Bill: We should give everyone a refresher on this. They can go in and change classes. Of course they were successful months ago, they are still successful?

Gideon: "Yes."

Bill: What and when was the last account they changed?

Gideon: "It was for  on ** ** **."

Bill: Ah, ok, pretty recent. That's good. We know their contract goes into 2023, do they feel like they will be able to change accounts all the way to the end of their contracts?

Gideon: “Yes, we’re not seeing a reason why not. They have the third highest available clearance. There are supervisors above them, and then you get into the area of who is running this entire thing, the head of the snake, so to speak. Their job level requires that kind of clearance because they need to have access to the entire software top to bottom to do their jobs.”

Bill: So when they go into do that change to a class, can you describe in simple terms how that happens?

Gideon: “Yes. Ok, let’s just use a random example — let’s say the person’s name is John. They search his name and date of birth. If he’s not found right away, they need more information. Once they find him, they see a profile, a life-profile. We see the system is designed to flag anyone with more conspiratorial, anti-government sentiments. So, let’s say, he’s Class R.

Now they need to first delete his data and replace it. This is really important. Deletion is two steps, first it’s deleted and moved to a repository, then from there military-grade erasure takes place and it is not recoverable. Now John has a new, fresh, clean slate. His old past is gone. He can’t be linked to it. But now he stands out, because he has no history. So now we need to do something about that, and give him a history.

They can’t just copy someone else and leave it at that, they have to copy someone else and use some spoofing methods. The most important part of spoofing is to change online handles, which can be done in the system easily. Then change the wording of certain online posts.

Let’s say John’s new account is from someone named Gary, who is a Democrat. Gary posted a lot on Facebook years ago in support of Barack Obama. They will go in and use an AI spinner to change the wording of some of Gary's posts. It doesn't need much to be changed at all. This takes a few minutes and it's done.

Now John, using Gary's old data, looks like a new person with a history of being more pro-government, pro-mainstream media. His account looks clean and unique to him. He's now automatically going to be Common or C class. The next step is to change his designation to Sovereign or S.

This is easily done, but we have to pay attention to some things. There are around 8 Million Sovereigns in the system, with openings for about 1 Million to be added or upgraded from Common. This is why my guys aren't running into issues, because there are hundreds of other employees who have the job of arranging, upgrading and changing classes. My men have administrative power. So when they make a change, the system does not see a problem. There are already dozens of lower level employees, who only have authorization to do this, making changes all the time."

Bill: This is really complex, but I'm glad you're explain this so well. So you have all these employees, and their only job is to change account classes?

Gideon: "They work in the same building. A different floor. They are busy with quality control and a ton of other tasks. They are moving people into Class Common, Restricted, Quarantined and Sovereign all the time.

My point is that changing classes isn't unusual, it's normal. Because of this, my men found out changing an account was not difficult.

So my men go in, move John over from Restricted and into Common and then into Sovereign. But it is not done. The Sovereign class has a lot of parameters. It has roles for these special people. Most of them are already assigned to their role in their current job today, they are media personalities, they are government officials.

Now, if they put John into the role of a government official, this isn't really ideal for John, necessarily. The good thing is, they have a huge section for 'retirees' essentially, Sovereigns with no role. It's about 600,000. We think these Sovereigns are older and have already 'served' their time, but there are younger ones in there, too. So our guys will just place John in the retiree role. It's not called that but what's what it effectively is. Just like we did for you and everyone else."

Bill: This is incredibly complex. So — well, I know this, but others reading this don't — you can't just have a Sovereign account without in-flows?

Gideon: "Not unless it has been given an 'administrative clearance'. We have only seen this on accounts for Trump, DeSantis and Alex Jones. We're sure there are more, those are just the only ones we have seen.

So this means they do not need to have in-flows. They are given a reprieve, they can wait much longer, it could be a month, two months, we don't know. That is granted at the highest level, the absolute highest."

Bill: Ah, ok, right. What level do you think? Presidential level? Leader of the E.U. level?

Gideon: “We think it’s something like that. But we don’t think the U.S. President or E.U. leader is that level. It would be someone in the background who is leading this entire thing.”

Bill: Klaus?

Gideon: “No, not Klaus Schwab. He is not the one running it at the top. We think it could be Putin.”

Bill: That makes no sense, Gideon.

Gideon: “If you look at the world at the surface level, you won’t know anything or understand anything.”

Bill: Hmm. Ok. So, what we think we believe about Putin isn’t really the truth?

Gideon: “Almost everything you think you know is what they decide they want you to believe.”

Bill: I get it, I just sometimes don’t apply that to everything.

Gideon: “Cognitive biases. ‘All those guys over there are bad, but I sort of like this guy, so he’s not bad or Sovereign.’”

Bill: Ah, I see. You’re right. We have to step back and remove our emotions. So are you solid on this Putin theory?

Gideon: “No, I’m not. I wanted to make a point.”

Bill: Well, mission accomplished! My brain froze and didn’t know what to say for a minute there!

Gideon: “Good, that’s the idea. You have to dislodge the innate biases within you to objectively see the truth.”

Bill: Ok, back to these accounts. They’ve set aside a few accounts, where the in-flows can come in later. Did you ever see anything coming into these accounts? Because the last your guys checked was three months ago, right?

Gideon: “That’s right. I don’t think they’ve checked since. It would be interesting to find out if Trump or DeSantis got some in-flows, of course, but that’s more up to them. You know I try to really only ask things of them that are a high priority?”

Bill: I know. Do you think we over-extended with the requests of the media personalities we just asked about?

Gideon: “No, it’s ok, because I really emphasized to them to only check on those names if they completely feel comfortable doing so. I said do not prioritize that over anything else.”

Bill: Good. It’s important but not that important.

Gideon: “Right, it’s not. We already looked at so many of these accounts earlier in the year and we were seeing almost everyone was Sovereign, Bill. It was almost every famous person we looked up! My guys got tired of it and quickly realized they were taking some small, unneeded risks in looking people up so they stopped.

It makes sense. Look at all these high profile people who pushed the vaccines. They’re all Sovereigns. Then in the alternative media, they were against the vaccines but always offered up some misdirection. Those are Sovereigns.”

Bill: Of course. The alt media is a joke, you've shown that to me. So what is a good rule of thumb on this, in terms of making an educated guess on who is Sovereign?

Gideon: "Based on all the data I know of, my guys bringing up these accounts, anyone with a reasonably sized following is probably Sovereign. If they are speaking about the Great Reset and still have a large following, I would question how they can maintain that. I would assume they have script and they are doing what is wanted of them, or they leave certain information out. For example, Bill, they talk about the Great Reset but refuse to discuss CSRQ or the class system."

Bill: Right, they only go so far, but won't go to certain things.

Gideon: "If they refuse to discuss CSRQ or what my men have revealed, then they are Sovereign."

Bill: I believe it. There's no reason alt media types who claim to want the truth to avoid this topic, solely this one. By the way, have your guys seen people lose Sovereign status, or gain it, in real time?

Gideon: "This is what the team on the lower level is doing, constantly evaluating classes. Because people are moving in and out of them. The system is automatic, but needs human attention and software engineers to work out bugs and issues.

Let's say you have a Sovereign media personality, ok, no, let's say they are a music artist. They put out a rap song. The rap song makes some reference about the vaccines, not in a good way. This is where the AI steps in, moves that rapper into Common class. Then the rapper's agents or representatives will step in, inform them what happened, and this gets worked out. The references to the vaccines might get removed from the song. The rapper is told, 'You overstepped.' Sometimes it's just a mistake.

This happens because this system is new. These Sovereigns were already part of the 'Illuminati' if you want to call it that for, you know, years and years, they were initiated. But this software is new, so they are all having to adjust a little bit. They are scrutinized more. Most of them just make mistakes. So it's a huge project, Bill, this is thousands of employees working on this."

Bill: We could talk all day about this. Let's get back to Sovereign class. Your guys were surprised to see all these in-flows, can you explain how and why that's happening?

Gideon: "It's to drain capital out of the current system and it acts as an accounting mechanism. They're not just giving Sovereign accounts, after the Reset happens, random amounts of USDR. The USDR is based on the Sovereign person's current wealth or status within this current paradigm or system. It is also clearly serving as a way to collapse the system, through the wealth drain. Capital is drained, debt is left behind. This will lead to a total seizure of the world's economy, as all of the real capital is moved out of it and into USDR, behind the scenes."

Bill: I wanted to ask, what's the low end they've seen on these accounts and the high end? We saw Tucker had $500 Million.

Gideon: "The lowest was $59,000 but it didn't stay there long, because in-flows were coming in. The highest we saw was into the Trillions."

Bill: That's because of the conversion rate, it hovers around 1:43.

Gideon: Yes.

Bill: Did your guys ever figure out why there is no monthly stipend for Sovereign?

Gideon: “We’re not sure except that it’s not needed, almost a redundancy they didn’t bother with, because every Sovereign in our world now is already very wealthy. There are no ‘poor’ Sovereigns. They are all converting their existing assets at 1:43 ratio so they are going to be filthy rich after the Reset. We also think there will be investment models available so they can grow their wealth, which will in turn create a type of monthly income in that sense, like interest from a bank deposit but better.”

Bill: Makes sense. For our purposes, we’re not Sovereigns, we’re being changed into Sovereigns, so we’re less likely to be super rich like they are. I guess it’s more a challenge for us.

Gideon: “It is, but with the conversion rate we feel comfortable. Something like just $50,000 will get you very comfortable after the Reset. That would be $2.1 Million USDR with strong buying power. You will be ok. The Reset will happen, the next day you login to your bank account there’s $2.1 Million USDR. You have no vaccination requirement, or any other restrictions. You feel bad about the situation but you also feel safe, relieved.”

Bill: For sure. I’m going for $5 Million but $2 million would still be enough. By the way, I’m getting a lot of people wanting to have their class changed to Sovereign. I’m not sure how to handle these requests, because I don’t want to make promises we can’t keep. Did you ask your guys about this?

Gideon: “I did. They understood when this came out people would want that. They said, and I agreed, that they want this to go viral and for this Reset plan to be stopped. If they could hit a keystroke and stop it, they would. They can’t. It’s a small miracle they can do what they do.

So for them you have different options. The first is to get this to the public and reverse course, get them to stop or delay this enslavement plan. The second course is to change people to Sovereign, which they did already for you, me, others. I know for a fact, Bill, they won’t be able to do more than a handful of people. They can’t do 100 accounts, it’s far too risky.”

Bill: What do I tell people?

Gideon: “Don’t make any promises. Focus on us working to just destroy this in the first place. Let’s live in a world where we don’t have to worry what class we are.”

Bill: I agree. But what about all the money we put in to get this USDR? We would lose that, because we destroyed it before it ever launched.

Gideon: “I’m perfectly ok with that. We would save the world, and lose some money in the process.”

Bill: I’m also ok with it. Being Sovereign is an insurance plan and also a back-up plan to sabotage them if we can’t stop it.

Gideon: “Precisely.”

Bill: Sometimes I feel great, like we can do this and stop this, then realize we’re just a few thousand now in the Telegram compared to Billions of people who are asleep.

Gideon: “And that’s why we have this back up plan. If they escalate us to Level 3 or 4, if they shadow-ban, if they do worse, my guys do want to bring in more for the Sovereign class. We could get deleted completely, so if you make contact with people that’s who we will bring into this. We would shift our focus to that, but we have to give this a chance first.”

Bill: We have to. But if we can’t, what’s our plan on the other side of this? Once the Reset happens?

Gideon: “We have to have the right people who we made Sovereign work with us and sabotage it from the inside. It’s going to be up to us to save the world. To save all our friends, all of our brothers and sisters who share our beliefs, who will be Quarantined or Restricted. I don’t want to think about the outcome for them.”

Bill: If I didn’t get changed to Sovereign, I’d be Quarantined and I’m looking at everything I have being taken, all my property gone, getting fined, getting visits by the cops, then drones, we know the outcome. I’d have a month before they would knock me out with a drone and vaccinate me.

Gideon: “You would have no chance. None of us would. If you could get deep into the woods and live like an absolute mountain man, you give yourself maybe a few months before the drones find you, maybe a year.”

Bill: But then it doesn’t even matter if you’re Common. The vaccine is required.

Gideon: “It is. There is no way out of what they will do.”

Bill: Then our friends and family turn on us because our bad scores are bringing theirs down.

Gideon: “You will see families and friends tear each other apart in a matter of days or hours because of the social credit system. They want to pit people against each other. They want this, Bill.”

Bill: Should I make a notice or special email about this Sovereign issue?

Gideon: “No. If they can’t figure out how to contact you and make themselves known, then we don’t need them. We need the smartest and best of the best, if it comes to that. Don’t hold people’s hands. Now I’m going to ask you a question for once. Do you think you have some good candidates for Sovereign who contacted you?”

Bill: I do, actually. I don’t want to let them down, either.

Gideon: “Ok. That’s good. I expected that. I knew we would find some needles in the haystack. Keep them on stand by, but focus on the main goal. We have to stop this before it even happens. This world is going to be hell. Even if we are Sovereign, we will have to watch our friends and family be destroyed, be force vaccinated, if they didn’t make it in with us. Can you imagine?”

Bill: I wouldn’t want to live seeing that. It’s the most painful thing I can think of. If I had younger children and for some reason I couldn’t make them Sovereign, I don’t know how I could live with that. I couldn’t.

Gideon: “Let’s do all we an to prevent this. Everything. If we had some alt media people who weren’t corrupt, it would be easier. Let’s find them.”

Bill: I’m trying, I am. By the way, why did they move up the time table? Why now?

Gideon: “A lot of reasons. But at the top, some of them are getting very old. They want to see this in their lifetimes. They know they now have the technology to do it, they just bumped it along a bit. This was coming between 2025 and 2030 regardless. Now it’s coming quickly.”
